WolkAbout Freemium Licence

Through free instance of its Platform, WolkAbout enables makers, ranging from DIY amateurs to big companies, to easily test and prototype connected solutions and then rapidly move from development to production.

WolkAbout Freemium is the newest instance of the Platform which allows fast and easy deployment of sensors and proper and secure handling of their data. This way, IoT makers don't have to buy or maintain any infrastructure, they can start prototyping and deploying applications in a matter of hours. WolkAbout Freemium provides API abstractions and functions, as well as open source libraries to help makers connect their hardware devices and create their custom apps.

Please note that WolkAbout Freemium comes with a limited feature set - it doesn't support user management features and access control. However, there is no time limit for the non-commercial use; users can connect up to three devices per account for an unlimited period (messages are also unlimited) and create up to two dashboards and up to three rules. Data is stored in WolkAbout's public cloud compliant with ISO 27001, and its retention is six months. Users are the sole owners of the data, WolkAbout cannot share it, but it can access it in certain cases defined in the official WolkAbout's Privacy Policy.

WolkAbout Freemium Licence comes with the email support.

WolkAbout Premium Licence

WolkAbout Premium Licence is aimed at companies that want to be completely independent in developing their IoT solutions and put their security and privacy first. WolkAbout IoT Platform understands M2M data flow process and serves as a foundation for modern, connected industrial systems. It enables remote monitoring, control and automation using smartphones or tablets and is capable of comprehensive process data analytics based on real-time performance.

Premium Licence is conceived as a one-time payment model - the lifetime license for WolkAbout IoT Platform costs 30,000 EUR. If the company has tried the freemium licence and is confident in reliability of WolkAbout IoT Platform, it can choose to buy its instance. This means that the newest version of the Platform is handed over to the buyer in the form of binary code, with the whole feature set built from the ground up for the IoT.

Buyers can choose if they want to deploy the Platform in private or public cloud, or on premises (an additional cost is related to the infrastructure of their choice). They are able to do full white labeling, and they are the sole owners of their data. WolkAbout IoT Platform is horizontally scalable; it is designed to manage hundreds of millions of devices, projects, and tons of data. There is a linear dependency between the system performance and the number of nodes, meaning that as buyers add nodes, the performance increases proportionally.

WolkAbout Premium Licence offers the highest level of independence and comes with different support plans.

WolkAbout Annual Licence

WolkAbout Annual Licence is aimed at companies just entering the field of IoT that want to test the possibilities of WolkAbout IoT Platform. This licence covers the same features as the Premium licence with one important difference - the licence expires 365 days upon activation.

The price of WolkAbout Annual Licence is 15,000 EUR. It's important to emphasise that the customers can extend the licence to Premium licence at any time during this period or after the Annual licence has expired for the difference in price.

Buyers can choose the deployment model, and decide whether to deploy their instance on premises, in public or private cloud. All client applications can be white labeled, just like those with the Premium licence. Bug fixes and patches are available for free for the current version of the Platform, while new modules and features are available at a lower price.

WolkAbout Annual Licence offers the highest level of independence and comes with different support plans: basic, standard and premium.
